

CARDUS presents

The HILL Family
LECTURE

A CONVIVIUM Society Event

Barbara Kay: “Public Safety, Public Comfort, Public Reciprocity”

October 15, 2012 | Public Reception 7pm, Lecture 8pm

Rideau Club, Ottawa | 99 Bank St., 15th Floor

Space is very limited. RSVP: go.cardus.ca/hilllecture2012 or 905.528.8866 x30.

Dress code in effect.

Barbara Kay is a columnist with the National Post and recently co-authored a book, Unworthy Creature: A Punjabi Daughter's Memoir of Honour, Shame and Love (Freedom Press Canada, 2012). She is a graduate of the University of Toronto, and received her Master of Arts in English Literature from McGill University as a Woodrow Wilson Fellow.

About the Hill Family Lecture Series

Canada's biggest improvements are often achieved on account of its quietest and most diligent servants. The Hill Family have been leaders in Canadian business and public life for more than a century. The Hill Companies have been led by three generations of successful businessmen and philanthropists—a constant legacy of integrity in cultural engagement starting with Walter H.A. Hill in 1903, followed by Frederick W. Hill (O.C.) in 1953, and capped from 1976 to present day by grandson Paul J. Hill.

CARDUS

October 15, 2012 | Ottawa